

MRS. LEO CARLSON DIES OF WOUNDS INFLICTED BY HER SPOUSE WHO SHOT HER AND THEN COMMITTED SUICIDE

END CAME AT 11:05 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING AT MERCY HOSPITAL WHERE WOMAN WAS TAKEN FOLLOWING SHOOTING.

WEDDED LIFE UNHAPPY

Troubles of Couple Said to Have Been Cause of Double Tragedy Which Occurred at 7:30 This Morning at Home of Mrs. Carlson's Mother.

Mrs. Leo G. Carlson, who was shot and fatally wounded by her husband at the home of her mother, Mrs. Amelia Messinger, 618 Linn street at half past seven o'clock this morning, succumbed to her wounds at 11:05 o'clock this morning at Mercy hospital. Mrs. Carlson never regained consciousness.

Known in Rockford. Leo G. Carlson, of Rockford, a union carpenter of that city, at seven thirty this morning shot and mortally wounded his wife, Cella Bahr Carlson, in a bedroom at the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. Amelia Messinger, 618 Linn street, then stopping into the sitting room of the home, drank the contents of a small bottle of carbolic acid and shot himself through the right temple.

The only witness to the tragedy was Mrs. Carlson's mother, Mrs. Messinger, who was in the house when her daughter was shot. According to her story, Carlson came to the house shortly after seven o'clock, entering the front door without knocking. Mrs. Messinger was in the kitchen at the time and her daughter was sleeping in a bedroom on the south side of the house. Going into the bedroom where his wife lay, Carlson awoke the young woman and she asked him what he had come there for.

"Get up now," said Carlson, "I'm going to leave," and then asked her if she would not go back to Rockford with him.

His wife did not reply, but got up and went into another bedroom to arrange her hair and Mrs. Messinger asked Carlson, "What makes you come here, you have never done her any good."

Carlson's reply was, "Yes, I know it, I didn't use her right," and then he stepped into the bedroom where his wife was standing and shot her, just above the right ear, the bullet passing through the lateral sinus of the brain.

He fired at her again, but where the other bullet struck was not discovered.

Mrs. Messinger screamed when she heard the shots and Carlson pointed the gun at her, but she retreated through the kitchen out of the house.

A minute later another shot was fired and neighbors who rushed in, found him lying in the middle of the sitting room floor with his head in a pool of blood. At his side lay the empty bottle which had contained carbolic acid.

The police department was notified and Chief of Police George Appleby, Sheriff E. H. Hanson, Officer Peter Champlin and former Sheriff Ira V. Platter went to the home in the police patrol. An ambulance was called and the wounded woman hurried to Mercy hospital where Dr. G. W. Pfahnd took charge of her and dressed the wounds. No attempt was made to probe for the bullet. It is thought the woman will not live through the day. Carlson's body was taken to Nelson's undertaking room.

The gun, a new box of cartridges, and the empty bottle, which had contained carbolic acid, were taken to the police station. The theory of the police in the affair, as born out by the facts, is that the shooting was entirely premeditated. The gun with which Carlson shot his wife and killed himself, was a thirty-two calibre revolver, evidently second-hand.

The carbolic acid was purchased in this city, as the bottle bore the label of a local pharmacy. Carlson evidently came from Rockford this morning on the seven o'clock car, purchased the poison and went to the Messinger home with the intention of committing the horrible deed. The house in which the double tragedy occurred is an old two-story stone house and is one of the landmarks of the city.

The marital troubles of the couple are the evident cause of the shooting. Mrs. Carlson, who was formerly Miss Cella Bahr of this city, was married to Carlson June 9, 1908, in Aberdeen, S. D. They lived for a time in Moberly, South Dakota and last fall they took up their residence in Rockford, where her husband worked as a carpenter. One child was born to them, a boy, which died when about seven months old.

The married life of the Carlsons was marked with quarrels, and several times the young woman made plans to leave her husband, but was dissuaded from doing it by her mother, who liked Carlson. The final breach came in August, just after the aviation meet in Rockford and shortly afterward Mrs. Carlson instituted proceedings of divorce against her husband and came to Janesville, making her home with her brother, Alfred Bahr, at his residence on George place. A week or so ago she went to Chicago, returning about a week ago when she and her mother went to the home on Linn street to live.

At the time of the aviation meet Mrs. Messinger visited the Carlsons in Rockford and Carlson, it is said, was on his best behavior. (Continued on page 5.)

CONFERENCE TODAY ON TOBACCO TRUST

[BY UNITED PRESS.] New York, Sept. 25.—Attorney General Wickersham came here today to participate in the renewed conference between the department of justice, attorneys for the tobacco trust and judges of the U. S. circuit court regarding reorganization of the tobacco company. Conference were secret, but Wickersham announced he would give out a statement.

It was announced this afternoon that any plans regarding the tobacco trust will not be made public until it can be presented to the court. This will be done by means of a petition which will set forth the plans of dissolution and request the court formally to approve it. A public hearing will then be conducted at which objections may be made, and finally a revised mandate will be issued which will be sent to the supreme court for approval.

TOY BALLOON EXPLOSION INJURES MADISON BOY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Sept. 25.—Jean Ketchum, eleven years old, is minus his eyebrows and plus a haircut as a result of the explosion of a toy balloon bought from a faker at the county fair. While playing with the balloon at his home he decided to stop a leakage by sealing the rubber with a flame. The instant the match ignited, the balloon exploded with a loud report and the lad's face was enveloped in flames. Aside from the singeing of eyebrows and hair he was not hurt. The boy is a son of L. L. Ketchum, chief engineer of the state capitol.

To Investigate Pipe Lines. Houston, Texas, Sept. 25.—In an effort to determine the scope of the interstate Commerce Commission's authority over pipe lines, a hearing was begun here today by Commissioner Franklin K. Landis. The interstate commerce act as amended last year brings pipe lines within the jurisdiction of the commission, but up to the present time no attempt has been made to subject the pipe lines to regulation. The present investigation will be extended to Oklahoma, where considerable complaint has been made concerning the methods and operations of the big oil carrying pipe line companies.

[BY UNITED PRESS.] La Crosse, Sept. 25.—Hunters early yesterday morning found the badly mutilated body of Edgar Robinsonette, half Indian and negro, who two months ago attempted to murder Sylvia Price, daughter of a farmer. The body was found near the scene of the shooting an empty carbolic acid bottle telling the cause of death. While the body lay in the morgue here Sunday night, an unknown person crept into the place pulled it from the vault and jammed three teeth from the skull.

JURY TO DETERMINE CAUSE OF DISASTER AT NEENAH SUNDAY

JURY OF SIX MEN WILL CONVEY OCTOBER TO PROBE WRECK IN WHICH 13 WERE KILLED.

FOUR MORE WILL DIE

Stated Today That of the Ten Persons Injured Four Would Undoubtedly Die.—Bodies Taken To Home.

[BY UNITED PRESS.] Neenah, Wis., Sept. 25.—Justices of the Peace, S. D. Baird today empaneled a jury of six men to convene in an effort to determine the responsibility or direct cause of the horrible grade crossing accident here in which 13 were killed and 19 injured.

Date For Inquest. The jury consists of: J. C. Doherty, Fred Abenschohn, Matthew Busch, Charles Sorenson, J. L. Courtney, and Derrick Prange, all Neenah citizens. The inquest will be held on Oct. 2 at 9 a. m.

Four Will Die. Of the ten injured in hospitals surgeons announced today two would not likely survive the day, while at least four would probably die. A full realization of the awful catastrophe was apparent here and at Menasha today. Flugs flew at half mast and there was depression everywhere.

Crowd At Morgue. Morbid crowds assembled at the morgue and watched removal of some of the 13 dead to their homes. The first body was taken from the morgue at eight o'clock. Many of the dead were main providers for large families. Eight were members of St. John's catholic church and according to present plans the funerals may be held together.

Orders Inquiry. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison, Wis., Sept. 25.—A thorough investigation of the crossing tragedy at Neenah yesterday which caused the loss of thirteen lives has been ordered by the railroad commission. The accident characterized as worst grade crossing accident in the history of railroading in Wisconsin.

It is learned that Loeb recently visited Washington and conferred with officials as to the advisability of his taking the position.

Finest Vessel. The Liberté, one of the finest crafts in the French navy, was commanded by Capt. Jurez, brother of the famous socialist. At the time of the explosion he was absent from the ship.

At Five-thirty. The fire broke out about 5 o'clock this morning. At 5:30 the first explosion occurred, followed by a second explosion at 5:45 and a third at 5:55. Immediately after the last explosion the vessel sank in a cloud of smoke.

Terrific Force. The force of the explosion of the two magazines was terrific. It killed 20 seamen and injured 50 others. The ship was anchored near the battleship, and shattered windows all over Toulon.

Even on Decks. When the big magazines finally let go the concussion was so severe that hundreds of people on the decks were knocked off their feet. The warship République was so badly damaged by the explosion that she had to be hurriedly drydocked.

Wrecked Launch. One freak of the explosion was the wreck of a launch from the warship which was enroute to the shore to bring back members of a Liberté party. A gigantic block of the metal structure of the Liberté fell on the launch, sending it to the bottom and drowning or killing every occupant. The scene of excitement that followed the explosion has never been equaled in the history of the navy here.

FIRE STARTS IN FINEST VESSEL IN FRENCH NAVY RESULTING IN DEATH AND DESTRUCTION

Vessel Completely Destroyed and Men and Officers Missing.—Death List Grows as Details Become Public.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Toulon, France, Sept. 25.—Fire which broke out today in the ammunition hold of the battleship Liberté and the four explosions which followed wrecked the ship and killed more than half of her crew of seven hundred ninety-three officers and men.

Made Great Holes. The force of the explosions made great holes in the ship and the fire, which spread from stem to stern, sunk the vessel to the bottom of Toulon harbor.

Jump Overboard. A few sailors saved themselves by jumping overboard, but many of the injured leaped into the water and were drowned. Scores were killed while asleep in their berths.

Thrown Into Air. Many of the bodies were hurled high in the air accompanied by great fragments of framework, armor plate, bursting shells and blinding and suffocating powder smoke.

On Shore Leave. Two hundred of the crew escaped death owing to the fact they were ashore on leave of absence. It is reported a hundred men from other warships which have been sent to help extinguish the fire, have disappeared. The death list is twenty dead and fifty injured.

May Be 200. The accurate estimates of dead and injured is still unavailable late this afternoon. They may not greatly exceed two hundred.

Given Warning. Preliminary explosions gave warning and many men threw themselves into sea and were rescued by small boats.

Broken in Two. The Liberté was broken in two by the violence of the final explosion, and she sank in forty feet of water. Accordingly a large portion of the upper structure remained above the surface. These were swept by flames.

Last Explosion. With the last convulsion of the mighty seafighter, the men and wreckage were tossed high in the air and a shower of human limbs, bits of flesh, articles of clothing, pieces of armor plate and splinters of wood fell upon the decks of nearby warships.

More Details. [BY UNITED PRESS.] Toulon, France, Sept. 24.—Broken in two amidships, the great French battleship Liberté, regarded as one of the finest war vessels in the world, lies at the bottom of Toulon harbor, a total wreck.

Increases List. With 316 men known to be dead this list will be increased fully 100 by casualties among the crews of other warships which were in the vicinity when she exploded. Most of the latter came from the Democratic, the Verol, and the République.

Final List. In all, 316 officers and men of the French cruiser Liberté died today when the warship blew up and sank in the roadstead off this place. One hundred of the crew occupied by swimming ashore. The war vessel's total crew numbered 710, of which 120 were on shore leave.

Small Number. When the roll call of the survivors was held on the flagship this afternoon 271 men, of which 40 were seriously hurt, responded.

Short Circuit. A short circuit in the store room forward is supposed to have caused the disaster, but as the cause is not known positively, there is the widest conjecture throughout France.

The disaster bore a striking resemblance to the destruction of the battleship Maine.

At Five-thirty. The fire broke out about 5 o'clock this morning. At 5:30 the first explosion occurred, followed by a second explosion at 5:45 and a third at 5:55. Immediately after the last explosion the vessel sank in a cloud of smoke.

Terrific Force. The force of the explosion of the two magazines was terrific. It killed 20 seamen and injured 50 others. The ship was anchored near the battleship, and shattered windows all over Toulon.

Even on Decks. When the big magazines finally let go the concussion was so severe that hundreds of people on the decks were knocked off their feet. The warship République was so badly damaged by the explosion that she had to be hurriedly drydocked.

Wrecked Launch. One freak of the explosion was the wreck of a launch from the warship which was enroute to the shore to bring back members of a Liberté party. A gigantic block of the metal structure of the Liberté fell on the launch, sending it to the bottom and drowning or killing every occupant. The scene of excitement that followed the explosion has never been equaled in the history of the navy here.

Paris Stunned. Paris, France, Sept. 25.—Stunned by France's latest disaster, the loss of the magnificent fighting ship Liberté, at Toulon, the minister of marine and his assistants took immediate steps to aid families of the victims and determine the responsibility for the disaster.

LINK AND PIN. RIVALRY RENEWED BETWEEN HARRIMAN AND HILL SYSTEMS

Fight Between Two Roads Has Broken Out in Such Manner That Courts Or Commerce Commission Cannot Interfere.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 25.—The old rivalry between the Hill and Harriman railroad systems between the Missouri river and the Pacific coast has broken out afresh and Harriman's Southern Pacific has just dealt Hill's Burlington line a staggering blow by cutting the latter line off from all San Francisco and California traffic. Conditions are such that neither the Interstate Commerce Commission nor the federal courts can interfere in the fight and from appearances the rival lines will be permitted to settle the affair in their own way. And this time the fight is being waged on the rails, not in the stock market. The entire trans-Mississippi country is the battle field instead of the narrow confines of Wall and Broad streets.

Despite the fact that this is the most Titanic struggle the western railroad world has known for 25 years, it is being waged so silently that the public is scarcely aware that the big rivals are no longer standing together and working harmoniously, as they have done in the past decade. The cause of the fight is the ownership of a simple $2.50 on each ticket sold by the eastern lines to the Pacific coast, but the effect produced is tremendous. And still greater effects are promised by the generals in command of the campaign.

The situation is complicated by the fact that Hill, in the fight, has the assistance of the big Rock Island railroad, which is in a position similar to Burlington, while Western Pacific, the new Gould road to the Pacific, is siding Southern Pacific. Union Pacific, main trunk of the Harriman system, is in the present fracas, only a "looker on" and a bystander, and is taking no part in the struggle. However, the latter road is reaping a golden harvest while the other lines "scrap" among themselves.

In fact, because of the big fight, Union Pacific today is the only railroad operating through trains between Chicago and St. Louis and San Francisco which traverse the central portion of the country.
The trouble began brewing a year ago when the Interstate Commerce Commission ordered Southern Pacific and other roads to reduce "rate" from Missouri river points to the coast. At that time, and for 10 years previous thereto, through cars have been operated over Burlington and Rock Island lines as far as Denver, thence over Rio Grande to Ogden, where they were turned over to the Southern Pacific for the haul to the coast. At that time the roads east and west of Ogden simply cut the rate in two parts, each taking an equal portion. When the Interstate Commerce Commission's new rate was ordered, Southern Pacific demanded that the eastern lines continue to accept the same proportion as formerly accepted, but both Burlington and Rock Island lines refused and demanded a higher percentage of the cost of the ticket.

For almost twelve months the traffic officials of the different systems involved have been seeking an adjustment, but last week a crisis was reached and Southern Pacific notified both Burlington and Rock Island systems that the cars formerly operated over these roads would no longer be accepted from them, and that in future all this traffic would be handed over to Union Pacific, which had made no demand for an increased percentage of the receipts.

Accordingly, both Burlington and Rock Island have been forced to discontinue all through cars to California via Denver, and Salt Lake and the great traffic once enjoyed by these roads is now being hauled by Union Pacific. The two systems which have found their coast business practically ruined by the arbitrary action of Southern Pacific have not yet found a way to "come back" at the latter line, but are promising that their next move will make the Harriman people sit up and take notice.

Both Burlington and Rock Island claim that, inasmuch as these through car routes had been in existence 20 years, they were entitled to more than the eight days' notice which was given them before their through business was taken from them and given to another road.

TWENTY-SIX CASES OF NATURALIZATION

Were Heard Before Judge Grimm in Circuit Court Today.—Five Cases Dismissed or Held Over.

There were twenty-six cases of naturalization heard before Judge Grimm in the circuit court today, twenty-one of which were granted, the other five being dismissed or held over for various reasons. United States Examiner H. L. Roetho of Chicago, conducted the cross examination on the part of the government.

The papers for the following men were not issued today: Aron Anderson whose case was continued to give him time to bring his family here from the old country in order to prove his intentions of becoming a permanent resident; Michael Byrnes the applicant not appearing; Jos. Andrulla of Beloit, whose application was held over for the reason that he was engaged with a partner in the saloon application; and in order to give him time to discontinue his business as the state law demands the allowance of each applicant to a person so engaged. Business in that city since making the application was held open to allow at the time; Adolph Anderson whose application to present witnesses to prove his citizenship; and Nell McGinley whose first papers were void, having been taken out when the applicant was but eighteen years of age.

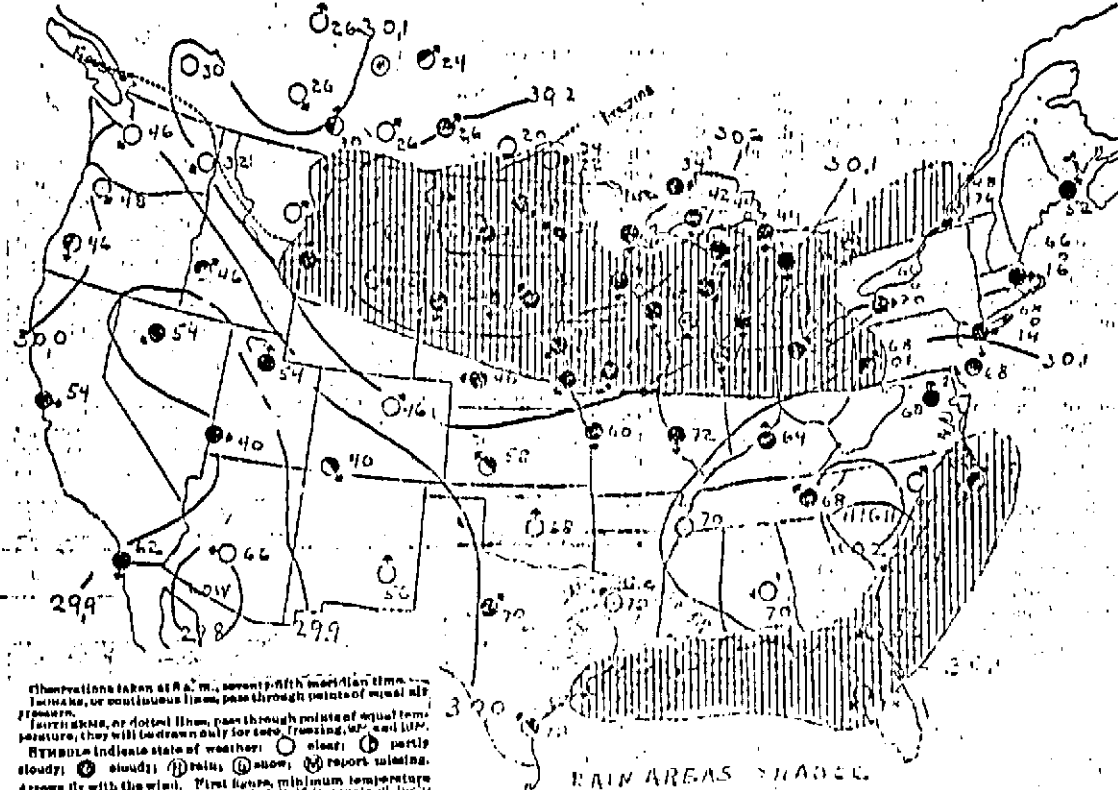

Naturalization papers were granted to applicants today giving them the full rights of citizenship as follows: A. H. Duge, S. H. Hoff, H. O. Trolloff, Peter Gilbertson, John Edwards, G. Landsworth, Halven Johnson, Wm. F. Forrester, Jno. Demsey, Carl J. Fetzlar, Herman Mantel, Carl J. Milarch, Wm. Bladen, Edw. Cary, Chas. L. Englund, Chas. Wazley, H. Lottschner, Ed. Stark, Julius Hubbert, Julius G. Hell, A. J. Wilman, Otto R. Helling, Henry C. Schweeney, Jas. Welsh, and Frank Bloedorn.

NERVOUS DEBILITY MODERN AILMENT

Has Swept Country Like Wildfire—People Are in Run-down Condition.

The hustle and worry and strain of modern life has produced a modern ailment. This modern ailment is nervous debility and during the past ten years it has swept over the country like wildfire.

Today a large percentage of the population, particularly city dwellers, are afflicted with nervous debility or a "run-down" condition as it is called. The chief symptoms of this modern complaint are lack of vitality and energy, nervousness and stomach trouble, weak back, poor circulation, constipation and insomnia.

Old fashioned remedies failing, a modern tonic was introduced in Europe to overcome this trouble. The medicine was an instantaneous success and a similar tonic is now meeting with tremendous success in this country. The tonic is called Tona Vita and it builds up run-down people in a few weeks time.

Are you a victim of this miserable, run-down, half-sick, tired-all-the-time condition? Are you nervous and despondent? Do you lack energy and ambition? If so, you have nervous debility and the wisest possible thing you can do is to let Tona Vita build you up and bring back your health and strength as it has done for thousands of others. You will be astonished how quickly this great modern tonic will make you feel as though made over.

Lee's Rhubarb Laxative, the assistant remedy, is used in cases of chronic constipation. Rhubarb is the finest of all natural laxatives. Other drugs strain and weaken the intestines, rhubarb strengthens them. Lee's Rhubarb Laxative is an ideal family medicine and should be given to children in preference to all others. The taste is pleasant.

Smith's Pharmacy have the agency for these two great medicines in Janesville and will refund your money if you are not completely satisfied with them.

RELIABLE
DRUGGISTS.

Did you ever watch a druggist who was careless, or lazy, who didn't have the KNOW HOW in his system, prepare Yellow Oxide of Mercury? Yellow Oxide goes into eye ointments you know.

The Don't Know or Don't Care fellow dumps his vaseline base into a mortar along with the Yellow Oxide, gives it a few rubs with a pestle, puts it into a box and hands it over to the confiding patient who doesn't realize that the first time he uses it he may get the full amount of Yellow Oxide into his eye and harm follow. The ointment has been improperly mixed. See?

At the Reliable the pharmacist takes a glass mortar, washes it antiseptically and then puts in a grain or two of Yellow Oxide. To this he adds a bit of vaseline and rubs them till they are thoroughly triturated. Then he adds the vaseline and continues rubbing until the ointment is completed. The oxide is distributed thoroughly by this means. There is as much in one part of the ointment as in another.

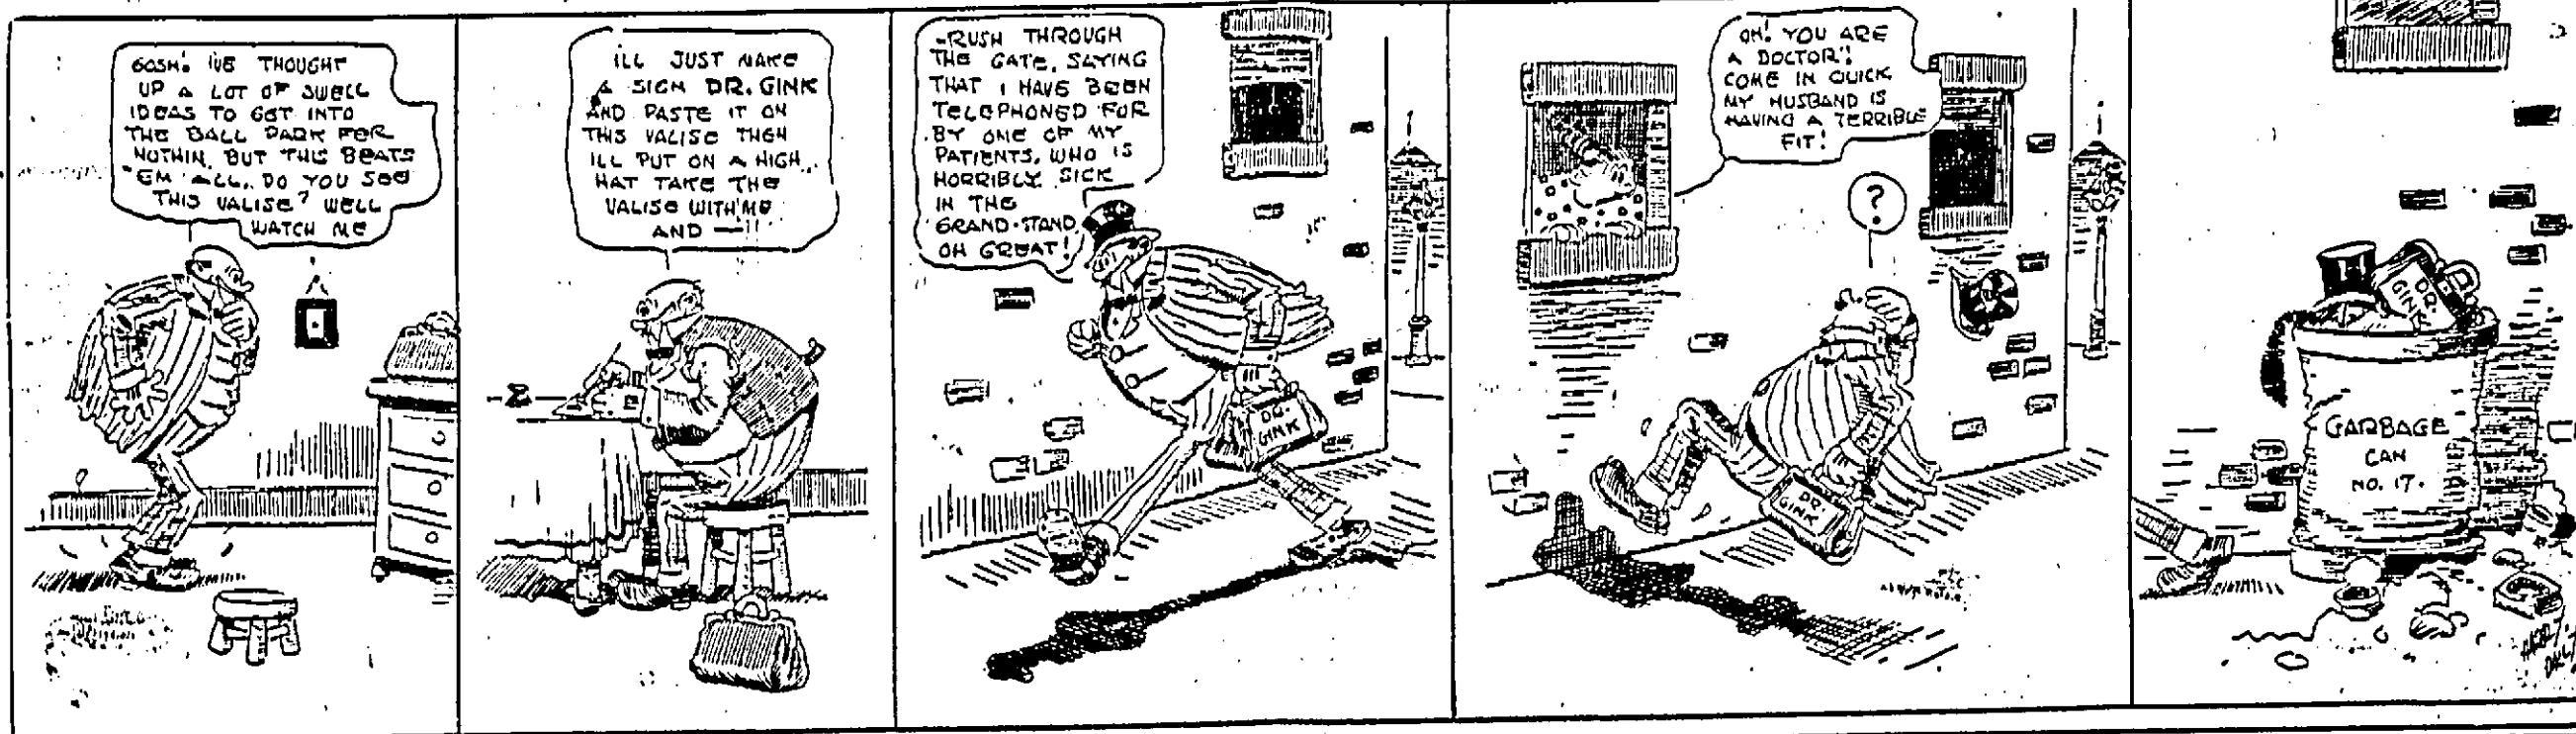

And you get your eye trouble cured. By the way, we use only the finest of Yellow Oxide at the Reliable Store. It is an impalpable powder, as soft as flour, and cannot by any possibility irritate the eye.

You see there is a difference. Bring your prescriptions to the Reliable. Guaranteed service.

MANUAL ISSUED FOR BOY SCOUTS

The Boy Scouts of America are being taught to be both cautious and helpful to others by learning about weeds and mushrooms. They are instructed how to distinguish between the poisonous and non-poisonous weeds and mushrooms. They are instructed that weeds and mushrooms which are poisonous, and to destroy them. The value of this educational work which is carried on by Scout Masters who have charge of the boys is apparent when it is considered how many persons every year are killed simply through their lack of knowledge of poisonous mushrooms and weeds. It is apparent also how great a help the hundreds of thousands of Boy Scouts who acquire this knowledge can be to the country at large.

The manual with which the Boy Scouts are provided gives them detailed information about mushrooms. It explains the more common edible varieties and teaches them how to tell whether a mushroom is safe to eat. It also explains much to them about ordinary weeds along the roadside. These things are practical not only for the boys who spend a great deal of time in the woods, but also for grown-ups who are fond of walking in the country and who often through lack of knowledge are made violently ill.

At the Scout Masters' and Patrol Leaders' Training School at Camp Recreation, Mt. Darby, Ohio, one of the important things that was taught to the men and the boys was this study of mushrooms and weeds. Malcolm P. Junkin, Scout Master and student in the State College in Pennsylvania, who was director of a camp and an instructor in woodcraft and camping, laid special stress on this kind of work and pointed out to the Scout Masters the necessity of seeing that the Boy Scouts acquired this practical information.

The leaders of the Scout movement say the Boy Scouts, numbering several hundred thousand, can be of great help by making a study of weeds and mushrooms.

NEW PASTOR SPOKE AT EDGERTON CHURCH

Rev. Schoenfeld New Pastor At Congregational Church, Delivered First Sermon There Yesterday.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Edgerton, Sept. 25.—Sunday at the Congregational church in Edgerton proved a most important day, witnessing the opening services of the newly installed pastor, Rev. Schoenfeld, who has just arrived from Dodgeville. Rev. Schoenfeld is an able and eloquent speaker and the church was crowded to the limit at both services, morning and evening. That he created a most favorable impression is the report of all who heard him.

Fall Meeting Opens At Louisville

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 25.—The autumn race meeting at Churchill Downs opened this afternoon and will continue for eighteen days. Hundreds of horses, including nearly all of the best that have been seen on the American and Canadian tracks this summer, are stabled at the local track. From here the horses will go to Kentucky, where a twenty-four day meeting will wind up the season on the Kentucky tracks.

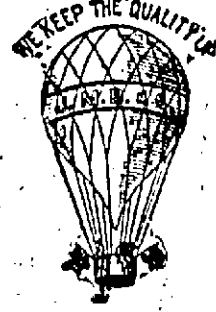

All the stakes for the Louisville meeting have been well filled. The feature event of the meeting will be the four-mile Kentucky endurance stakes, which is set down for October 7 and will be the first long-distance race in Kentucky in twenty years. The event will be worth more than $8,000 to the winner.

Loyal to Their King.

You may find that aristocratic temperament among the peasants in the villages of Bavarian Tyrol. They talk still of the King Ludwig who lavished money on palaces and died an insane suicide and murderer. You remind them that they are still paying off the debts of the mad king. They reply cheerfully that they are glad of it, for Ludwig loved music and gave us Wagner.

THE WEATHER.

Unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday, continued cool, moderate north winds.

A BUSY CITY.

One of the best compliments paid to the city in many a day came from a gentleman who made a house to house canvass last week. He said to a friend, Saturday night, "You have one of the best little cities I was ever in, for everybody is busy. I haven't seen an idle man all the week."

That means a good deal for any town, for busy people are usually happy people, and Janesville is noted for this class of folks. In our anxiety to have the city grow it is possible to overlook the benefits enjoyed and the blessings we have.

There is no city of its size in the land which contains so many houses occupied by the men who own them. There are more real estate taxpayers than voters at any election save the national election. This means that the average working man owns his home, an evidence of thrift and economy which is a valuable asset to any community.

The business men of the city are wide awake and enterprising, as indicated by the stocks they carry and the liberal patronage extended to the press in announcing what they have to offer.

They combine with enterprise, stability, which gives to the city a wide spread reputation. The failures for the past decade can be counted on the fingers of a single hand.

The industries are in a prosperous condition and short hours and idle time are of rare occurrence.

The schools and churches are ample, to meet the requirements of the intellectual and religious life, and the golf grounds, not half appreciated, would be a credit to a city double the size.

Nature contributed freely to the location, and while some of the beauty spots have been marred, "the city beautiful" expresses popular sentiment, and the improvements added year after year are permanent, and many of them artistic.

The city is all right in many ways, and a most desirable place for a home. There is room for it to grow and in time it will take on new life. In the meantime let's keep busy and be happy.

The question of reciprocity was handled in this country by congress under the stimulus of a president who favored the measure and worked for its adoption. The Canadian parliament, under the leadership of Sir William Laurier, also favored the movement, and President Taft very naturally believed that this governing body represented public sentiment. In this he was misled, as the popular election showed. It is a question whether the action of congress represented public sentiment in this country.

A seven year old boy, hit by a pet dog, developed rabies in a most violent form, and is pronounced incurable. The hospital physicians in attendance are keeping the boy under the influence of chloroform and propose to do so until he dies. This is humane, and the time will come when physicians will be commended for adopting the same policy to relieve suffering in cases where dissolution is near and the case hopeless.

The open letter of Thos. S. Nolan to the city attorney, published in Saturday evening's Gazette, is suggestive of what the city is likely to lose, in the way of street railway facilities, unless a different spirit is shown toward the enterprise. It seems hardly possible that Mr. Maxfield is acting in the matter, on his own initiative. If not, the sentiment behind him, which prompts action, is certainly shortsighted, and detrimental to the city's welfare. The interurban capital is outside capital, and the company is spending money freely and asking nothing in return but fair treatment, which every fair-minded citizen should be glad to accord.

The Denver Post is engaged in a campaign of progress which is unique, and yet which has much to recommend it. The paper advocates selling the Philippine Islands to Japan, on the ground that we do not need them and that they are easy of access to the nation of the far east. The Post suggests that the money secured from the sale could be well invested in re-claiming arid lands in the west, and thus enrich our own borders. The press of the country is asked for an opinion on the plan, which will doubtless be favorable.

The progressives, encouraged by the defeat of Canadian reciprocity, will meet in Chicago, October 16, to perfect a national organization, and select a candidate for president, which will doubtless be Senator La Follette. This means a split in the ranks of the republican party and lends new hope to the democrats for success in the campaign of 1912. The business of the country has already commenced to take account of stock and adjust itself to prospective changes as it did in 1893.

Another "Black Friday" on Wall street was averted, when the great banks of New York came to the aid of customers and prevented a panic in stocks. Rumors of government interference with the United States Steel company flooded the market with common stock and prices broke rapidly until money was found to stem the tide. The Sherman law may be all right, but forced compliance is likely to raise havoc with American industries.

President Taft may find it difficult to "sit tight" and take his medicine, but he has nothing to apologize for and there is no occasion for him to spend any time in trying to explain why Canada turned him down. He offered the dominion government the best opportunity it ever had to increase its trade, and America is not a heavy loser by the rebuff.

For the first time in many years, the old republican state of Maine will be represented by a democrat in the United States senate. The seat held so long by the late Senator William H. Frye, will be occupied by Obadiah Gardner, a defeated democratic politician. Mr. Gardner secures the place by appointment.

With the defeat of reciprocity the Canadian "government" has turned down the opportunity of a life time. Free access to a nation of 90,000,000 spenders was too large a problem for the Canadian mind to grasp. America has less to gain, and the defeat of the measure will not be greatly mourned.

The democrats rejoice and the progressives wear a smile of satisfaction over the defeat of reciprocity, not so much because of opposition to the measure as because of the embarrassing position in which it places President Taft and the influence it may have on his political destiny.

State aid for road building is so popular that the appropriation of $350,000 has already been appropriated with several counties yet to hear from. This indicates that the era of good roads has dawned, and the next decade will witness marked improvements in the public highways.

A HAVEN OF REST.
Of all the things I'd like to be—
I'm no ambitious gent.
It really would just tickle me
To be vice-president.
A feller could drop out of sight
And feller his own bent.
There would be nothing much to do,
The pay is not so bad.
No journalists would hang around
To roast each whim and fad.
No office seekers stickin' by
To drive a feller mad.
He could just loaf around the house
And not dress up at all.
For no one ever has been known
To bore him with a call.
And he could wear the same necktie
From early spring to fall.
No bill collectors ever could locate him if they tried.
"Find out that he has died"
And no one cares if he has told
The truth or simply lied.

They talk about the simple life
That brings peace and content;
The joy of being all alone,
A beam that's heaven sent,
The simplest method known is just
To be vice-president.

AUTOMOBILE ETIQUETTE.
Never borrow your neighbor's automobile on Sunday, for that is the day when he is most apt to want to use it himself.

If you are driving a horse down a narrow road and an automobile driver wants to pass you, don't turn out at all, but make him follow you at a snail's pace for four or five miles. That makes everybody feel good and promotes the friendly spirit of the highway.

When a man takes you out riding always be sure to ask him how much he paid for his car, and then begin to talk about the superior points of the more expensive ones.

When you borrow a man's car break a tire or a couple of lamps, speak the car back into the garage and don't say a word. Let him pay for the damage himself. It's part of the fun.

A postscript should never get into the way of an automobile while going across the street, unless perchance he is paying for another on the installment plan and doesn't care what becomes of him.

WIVES OF GREAT MEN.
Bill Jones' wife takes in washin' and Jim Smith's wife teaches school. Ned Brown's wife takes in sewing, and supports him, as a rule.
Frank Fishy's wife paints china, and makes much coin that way.
Lena Hink's wife teaches music, and has a big class; so they say.
Their husbands? Goodness gracious! Their talents no use to ask of them. They sit around the grocery, Bill and Ned and Frank and Lena.
The cracker box statisticians don't do nothing' but look wise.
Wives of these men all remind us, we can make our lives sublime,
If we keep our wives a-workin' to support us all the time.

LETTERS OF A WIFE TO HER HUSBAND.
Monday.
Dearest Henry—We are having a perfectly lovely time at the resort and the children are all well. Hope you are getting along all right alone in town. Please wire $25.
Your Loving Wife.

Tuesday.
Dear Hank—Got the $25 you were so kind as to wire yesterday. Hope you are well. Please send $50.
With love, Your Wife.

Wednesday.
Hank—Are you awfully lonesome without me? Clarence fell in the lake yesterday. Please send $35 at once.
Always Your Wife.

Thursday.
Darling Husband—I miss you terribly up here. Thanks for the $25 you wired. Angeline was bitten by a snake yesterday. I love you more than ever before. Please wire $80 at once.
Your Lonesome Wife,
Friday.

Angel Husband—The $80 came promptly on time. We are all well. Margaret has met a young man who is taking an interest in her. I cannot tell you how much we miss you. Please send $125.
Ever Your Loving Wife.

Saturday.
Say, where is that money I asked you to wire me yesterday? You must be having a pretty good time there in town alone, to forget your family. Come across with $150 today by wire or I will be in on the next train.
Your Mother.

Sunday.
Thanks for the $150. M.

OUR IDEAL.
Of a swell vacation—Being cooped up in a 4x6 hall bedroom over the kitchen at a resort hotel.
Of a paramount issue—Whether we get up first to light the fire.
Of a good job to stick to—Working in a glue factory.
Of a victim of circumstances—Red-headed man with wart on his nose and bare lip.
Of circumstantial evidence—Seeing a man come out of a saloon with a long round parcel under his arm.
Of a waste of time—Waiting for something to happen to the high cost of living.
Of a high honor—Being asked to sit on the platform at a political meeting and wear a badge.
Of a wise precaution—Taking your own cigars to an evening smoker.

Y. M. C. A. PLANS FOR ITS SEASON'S WORK FOR MEN
The chairman of the Christian Work committee of the Y. M. C. A., W. W. Dale, met with several others yesterday at 3:30 p. m. at the Association building. A very interesting conference was the result. It was decided to open the men's meetings on next Sunday afternoon, Oct. 1.
This will also mark the opening of more aggressive work in all lines of the association activities. The Y. M. C. A. is here for every man, both young and old, regardless of creed, nationality, or belief, and everyone should take special interest in its work.
The regular schedule of physical work classes will begin tonight with the senior meeting at 8 p. m. The following schedule will be maintained throughout the winter, beginning today:
Seniors—Monday, Thursday, Saturday—8 p. m.
Business men—Tuesday, Friday—8:30 p. m.
Intermediates—Tuesday, Friday—8 p. m.
"A" Juniors—Monday, Thursday—8:15 p. m.
"B" Juniors—Wednesday, 4:15; Saturday, 10 a. m.
To Discuss Astor-Force Wedding.
Columbus, O., Sept. 25.—The Astor-Force wedding and the whole vital subject of divorce is to be discussed at the Christian Citizenship conference which began a two days' session in this city today. Churches of all denominations are represented at the conference. Prominent among the scheduled speakers are Dr. James S. Martin of Pittsburgh, C. G. Sterling of Indianapolis, Judge E. B. Kinkaid of Columbus, Rev. Dr. James S. McCaw of Sterling, Kan., and Clement H. Congdon, business manager of the World's Christian Citizenship conference to be held in Portland, Ore., in 1912.

Independent Meeting At Columbus.
Columbus, O., Sept. 25.—The second big race meeting to be pulled off in Columbus within two months opened today, to continue until Saturday. The present meeting is an independent one arranged by the Columbus Driving Association. Over $10,000 is to be distributed in purses during the five days of the meeting. The horse review feature for both pacers and trotters is on the card for the week, while there is a $2,000 stake for 2:07 pacers; a $3,000 stake for 2:11 pacers; a $5,000 stake for 2:12 trotters, and a large number of class races. The program also includes a free-for-all trot which will bring out the best of the horses in training and a grand champion pacer stake, in which an entered independence boy, Evelyn W., and several other stars.

POTATOES CONTINUE TO BE RATHER HIGH

Retail At Local Market At About 90c to $1.00 Per Bushel But Supply Is Increasing.

Potatoes still continue to demand a high price at the local stores although they are slightly lower than several weeks ago. Retail prices at present are 90c to $1.00 per bushel for tubers of good quality grown mostly in this vicinity. Rain which have come late in the season have prevented the late varieties from ripening and consequently there is not a large supply of the later potatoes as yet. When these are offered it is estimated that the price will drop materially, as the crop in the northern sections is reported very good.

Read Why

We are publishing this extraordinary page of specials

This paper has been studying for some time past the relative importance, interest and appeal the "advertising" of a modern paper should bear to the other "news" set forth in its columns.

(The result is staggering to the reportorial and editorial pride.) It has forcibly come to us that, what interests the world most today and has most interested them since the world began, is summed up in—

WHAT TO EAT—WHAT TO WEAR—WHAT TO HAVE IN THE HOME—HOW TO BEST SPEND MONEY TO PROMOTE THE MOST PLEASURE AND HAPPINESS AND COMFORT.

Compared with these great points which vitally concern humanity, the lesser happenings of life are but incidents.

And the person best qualified to interest the people of this city in these matters of most moment are by all means the merchants—the men who are in touch with the world's markets—who know what is being done in the new discoveries and origination of merchandise and food stuffs, to raise standards of living or change modes and styles.

Do the people of this city really appreciate this great truth? Do the merchants appreciate it themselves, is a question this paper has been asking itself and also the question—

HOW CAN THIS PAPER HELP bring a closer confidence and sense of mutual understanding and benefit between advertiser and the public?

In answer to this question THIS PAPER HAS SET ASIDE THIS SPACE for one day each week and has asked the merchants of this city to contribute

(What in their opinion will be their (one) most appealing bargain.)

Moreover, we mean to devote this space one day each week to announcing these "best" bargains. We also mean to protect our merchants and our readers in the sincerity of all offerings, and so we will appoint a competent shopping committee to each week inspect all "best" bargain offerings and decide which is the ONE BEST BARGAIN OF ALL the decision of the committee to be published in the ad of the week following the insertion of the "best bargain."

45 Merchants Have Responded—some with price cuts, some with "new arrivals," some with style novelties, some with unique originations, some with offerings possessing more than ordinary appeal to eye, palate, or ear.

This Ad is Bound to Contain many things to interest and appeal to every reader of this paper—many needed items at a big saving, many wanted things, many new suggestions; and so, even if you haven't a need, desire or wish unfulfilled at the present time, the reading of this ad and the succeeding ads will be well worth your while in developing your discernment, just for the interest and satisfaction of determining in advance in your own mind the "bargain" which the committee will select as "best," your faculty for picking out real bargains when you see them and also because these announcements from every point of view are bound to make

The most interesting reading of any page in today's paper

The Meisel Clothing House

Were awarded the honor of having the "Best Bargain" last week by the committee of three ladies from the Calendar Society of the United Brethren church. The bargain offered was on men's fine quality Fall weight suits, regular $10 and $12.50 suits at $6.85. The committee were unanimous in awarding the "Best Bargain" to The Meisel Clothing House.

Was this the bargain you decided was best last week?

Did you read and respond to that bargain page—you certainly missed the most interesting reading in the paper if you happened to overlook it—But here is another—just as brimful of interest to you—read every special—perhaps the very item you need most is set forth here the most extraordinary offering on the page.

The judges this week are members of the Philanthropic Committee of the Club of Household Economists.

WE WERE speaking of a young girl, who although only twenty-two or three years old, looks thirty.

She has not had a particularly hard life. There is nothing especially ailing about her work. She has not had any more than the ordinary mortal's share of sorrows and disappointments.

Why, then, this strangely premature aging, we debated. Said the lady-who-always-knows-something: "I'll tell you just what I think it is. It's because she has so many responsibilities."

"Responsibilities," we scoffed, "what particular responsibilities has she, a girl of twenty-three, with a father and mother who give her a pleasant home, and not even any younger brothers and sisters to worry her?"

"Well," said the lady, "she has her father's business to carry on, and then there's her mother's household work, and just think of the responsibility of that married sister's home and two children, and then there's her older brother's business—think what a tax that must be for her."

"You mean that she carries all the family responsibilities as well as her own?"

"Exactly," said the lady, "just as most of these people who get old before their time do."

Aren't there innumerable people everywhere who are wearing themselves out just because they have not yet mastered what Harriet Beecher Stowe calls one of the most important parts of the scheme of living—

"to learn just what our responsibility is, and to let other people's alone?"

When were we out driving the other day, our horse became frightened and bore down upon a crossroad at a most undesirable smart pace. Just as we reached the crossing, another carriage loomed up in front of us, and although we pulled in as hard as we could it looked for an instant as if something were going to happen. Fortunately, the other man whipped up his horse and got past in time to avoid a collision.

"Didn't you think we were going to run into them?" I said afterwards.

"Oh, no," said my companion cheerfully, "I knew that if the other man did his part we would be all right, and I thought he would. I believe in not trying to do the whole thing, but in giving the other fellow credit for having sense, as well as you."

It seems to me that that is a philosophy which is too little regarded by many travelers on the King's Highway.

We feel that the whole responsibility of avoiding a collision rests on our handling of the reins, while all the time the other fellow is doing just as much to avoid it.

We feel the burden of whole situations upon us, while in reality we are only responsible for some tiny corner of the business.

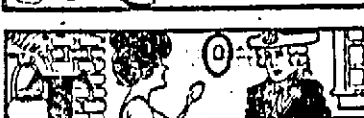

We insist on thrusting our shoulders beneath other folk's responsibilities, even though in so doing we do not help at all, but merely weary ourselves and hinder and impede them.

If only we could throw off this foolish weight of other people's responsibilities that we are struggling under, how many of us might throw back our shoulders and lift up our heads and breathe freely once more.

Can't we?

Can't we relax from the strain of all the little cares and worries, lest things go wrong in spite of us, and from the fear that something will happen in this old world if we let go? Can't we quietly listen and rest in that great big question that God asks us as He asked Job, "Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth?"

THE ETERNAL QUESTION.

Three meals a day is the endless chain that encircles the housekeeper with the never-ending problem of what to have to eat.

It is not so much the daily duty which disheartens and weighs upon her; but the thought of three meals a day through the years to come smothered her with their accumulated weight.

The old fable of the clock which refused to work because it had to tick so many times a day, teaches us a deep lesson; the clock was only required to tick one tick at a time. We need not bear the burden of the future, nor give needless thought to the days to come. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

One of the things to be most thankful for is a good appetite, which usually goes with a healthy body. Anybody who finds it necessary to eat to a sickly, fussy appetite certainly needs sympathy, for there is nothing more discouraging to the author of a good meal than the birdlike habit of turning over food and playing with it.

It is to be regretted that the best-intentioned people in the world often have no appetite, and they must be fed and cared for just as well as those who can digest shingle nails.

We must remember to appeal to the eye in preparing dishes and arranging the table. If the eye is pleased the palate usually responds, and things which taste good will be better digested and will consequently better build up the body and repair waste.

We learn that a mixed diet is not only pleasanter but actually necessary for our best, as is proven by the variety of foods that a wise Providence provides for us.

Only fish and pork are accompanied with lemon and apple sauce, not only because it appeals to the taste, but because the oil needs the acid to aid in its digestion. We find that lamb served with mint sauce, roast goose with onions and sage are not combinations following a fancy, but because it was discovered that the richness of these foods is modified by the sauces. So it is well to remember that it is not wise to neglect these necessities when serving such foods.

People past middle life will find that the general health will be improved if they eat less, drink more, worry less and play more.

FADS AND FASHIONS.

New York, September 25.—Quite lately the makers of fashion have made efforts to bring back into favor the two-piece costume, but judging from the advanced fall costumes recently imported it would seem that they have not been particularly successful. With the high empire skirts so little material is consumed in the making of the waist that women demand the bodies be made of the same material as the skirt. If not, they are willing to accept some pretty soft fabric that exactly matches the skirt in color. Even with coat suits the coming season will see blouses matching the color of the cloth used in the suit.

The short, straight skirt, high waist line and loose blouse with a slightly low cut neck, although not new in design, will be worn all winter.

While the elbow kimono sleeve has not vanished, and with the dress of the new cutting frocks and of the dress model as well, show long sleeves. Some of the long sleeves are merely long and close fitting, set in smooth at the shoulder. Others combine an oversleeve of the modified kimono type with a long undersleeve, and newer than either are the long sleeves full at the elbow and with a long light wrinkle cut coming down well over the hand and often finished by a frill falling over the hand.

Among the most recent importations of tailored frocks there are still many pretty simple models, suggesting in line and detail the one-piece flared frocks of the summer, with buttons all the way down the front, such as the kimono sleeve and turned down collar. These frocks are youthful and pretty and may be made to have an air of originality by some clever detail of collar, girdle, etc., but they are not new.

Judging from recent importations French women have accepted the little caucases, canquins and cancos, which were one of the most characteristic features of the Empire day dresses. They made their first appearance a short time ago and at once bounded into popularity. In fact, Paris has gone quite mad over them. That is the case, it is only a question of time when the style will become quite general here.

These little coats are quite picturesque and simple in line, but possess a peculiar quality that adds just the right note of distinction to the costume. Imagine, if you can, the attractiveness of a perfectly plain skirt of pale blue and white taffeta, cut over a six-score model, with a panel back and front and having a raised waistline, with the bodice taking the shape of a little caucos of pale blue voile, finished at the high waist with a small rounded basque mounted on a thick cord covered with plain blue taffeta.

The caucos finishes in the back with two long cords of irregular length, cut square at the bottom and finished with a narrow half fringe which also bordered the basque. The front of the caucos crosses and is fastened at the waist with a small fastener of any pink rosebud, the V-shaped opening being bordered with a collar of finely pleated lawn edged with blue; a little glimpse of transparent tulle silk in the V.

These little coats are made of figured silk or satin combined with plain skirts, or vice versa. Others are of cloth, velvet, marquisette, chiffon or even net lined with a delicate shade of satin. The cut can be varied to suit the wearer, but they are made with the short Empire waist and elbow sleeves.

Tulle is very much in evidence for trimming the floor hats and gowns and for all sorts of toilet accessories. Already the advanced milliners are designing picture hats with the crowns composed of billows of tulle interspersed with mock ostrich. A charming model is a Napoleon hat having the brim faced with black velvet and on the crown an enormous cloud of black tulle, its lightness accentuated by having the edges plied.

Frequently fascinating little diaphanous bonnets designed for theatre wear are made entirely of tulle, having many shirrs and puffs and fluffy edges. The woman who is clever with her needle can readily trim her own hats, tulle is the principal garment. The crown of the hat can be draped with it, bows and cascades of the airy material placed at the most becoming point and wired loops giving height where it is necessary.

For a flatter there is no daintier material obtainable than tulle. Laid in soft folds and edged with narrow quillings of ribbon or lace, it makes an ideal finish to the V-necked afternoon and evening frock. Hourglass blue tulle mounted over satin of a deeper shade is employed in building a ball gown of extreme beauty.

An innovation this season are the quills of tulle. A very attractive model is mounted on pale corn-colored satin and covered with a series of quills of golden-brown tulle laid on rather flat, with a very narrow quilling of deeper brown tulle covering the attache where it is pinned. A border of the darker tulle shirred in hundreds of tiny frills looks at a short distance like a mass of soft feathers.

Satin bags covered with shirred tulle are hung over the arm, bows of it are worn with effect at the collar line, and a band of black tulle around the bare throat, fastened with diamond slides, and a small clasp placed a little to the side of the back give a wonderfully chic finish to the simple costume, besides making the skin look milky white.

White and colored vertical ottoman cords are among the new heavy materials for separate skirts and jacket suits.

Velvet and suede pumps, which have been much worn during the summer, are to continue popular during the fall.

Make Yourself a Wonderland.

YOU remember that "Alice" was wondering whether it was worth while to pick the daisies to make herself a daisy-chain, when she fell down the rabbit hole into Wonderland. The question she was pondering, many older persons ponder in other forms. Is it worth while to pick the daisies to make a daisy-chain? Unlike Alice, they say not, while considering this question, tumble down a rabbit hole into a wonderland, but the picking of the daisies for the daisy-chain may lead them into a wonderland quite as interesting as was Alice's. If then, like Alice, you are finding time hang heavy, and life somewhat dull and commonplace, decide to make yourself a daisy-chain. Or in other words, make yourself a Wonderland. Perhaps rather, one might say, enter the wonderland all about you.

For, almost an infinity of wonderlands is about us, and it seems passing strange that any of us should find life dull and commonplace when these realms of delight are ours for the entering. But there is the rub. We must decide to pick the daisies or we cannot have our daisy-chain.

For instance, take the wonderland of the stars. Could anything be more fascinating than to wander along the highways of the skies guided by the great astronomers. Plenty of books are written today in a popular vein to make this wonderland quite explorable by the ordinary individual.

Bird life is another interesting wonderland. So, too, are biology, mineralogy, chemistry, or any of the great departments of nature or science. Coming into the realms made by man, literature, art, music, offer alluring highways to explore. Indeed, no one need find life dull and uninteresting while such wonderlands lie all about.

The thing to do is to decide definitely to enjoy some one of them; and a good time to come to such a decision is now at the beginning of a new season. One can make such a wonderland for himself by means of study, reading, keen observation, if means are limited. The lack of funds need not necessarily cut one off from these wonderlands, for stars and flowers and birds and rocks are free to all.

And though one may begin with but reading and observation, other avenues to pleasure will open. Acquaintances will be made, friendships formed, life will open out into broader horizons. There is no need for any one to sit in cramped quarters with a dull outlook. Pick the daisies and make the daisy-chain to beautify life. It is decidedly worth while.

THE PROTEIN RATION.

In recent years the estimates of the daily ration of protein or flesh forming food have been considerably reduced, particularly through the experiments of Chittenden and Fisher of Yale University. The new dietary charts issued by the department of Agriculture give 100 grams (a grain is about 15 1/2 grains) as the proportion required by a man in full vigor at moderate muscular work. All foods except sugar and fats contain some protein, green vegetables having the least and eggs, milk, fish, flesh containing the largest percentages, cereals about 12 per cent. A quart of buttermilk, two ounces of cottage cheese or two soft boiled or whipped eggs, without flesh meat, will furnish the necessary protein for an adult eating a reasonable amount of other foods or if genuine whole wheat bread is used no flesh or dairy products will be necessary. Nuts are rich in protein, all the cereals contain sufficient, except polished rice. Most Americans of the well-to-do classes, including the mechanic, eat too much protein, which is the most serious of dietary errors, leading to Bright's disease, rheumatism, auto-intoxication and premature degeneration of the arteries and heart. It is probable that the proportion of nitrogenous food required for perfect health and efficiency is much smaller than has been estimated even by those who have lowered the old estimates. The system adapts itself to any ordinary diet, but not without ultimate injury if it is seriously unbalanced.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

A REMARKABLE FAMILY OF ACTORS.

By A. W. MACY.

In 1753 John Ward, an English theatrical manager, opposed a match between his daughter and a member of his company, not wishing her to marry an actor. He finally gave consent, however, consenting himself with the thought that the young man was not much of an actor. In this he was mistaken, for the young man, whose name was Roger Kemble, not only succeeded well in his profession, but became the founder of a family that is remarkable in the annals of the English stage.

Twelve children were born to the couple, of whom eight reached maturity; and every one of the eight made some effort on the stage. The oldest child, Sarah, became the renowned Mrs. Siddons. The oldest son, John Philip, was probably the greatest actor of his day, and was known as "the great Kemble." The eleventh child, Charles, was a renowned comedian, while his daughter, Fanny Kemble, was probably the best known to the public of all the family. Her sister, Adelaide, attained considerable popularity as a public singer. Her son married the daughter of General Grant.

OTTUMWA WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ottumwa, Iowa.—"For years I was almost a constant sufferer from female troubles in all its dreadful forms—bleeding, pain, sick headache, spinal weakness, dizziness, depression, and everything that was horrid. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to you for my cure."—Mrs. HARRIET E. WATSON, 624 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider This Advice.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous medicine, made only from roots and herbs, has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

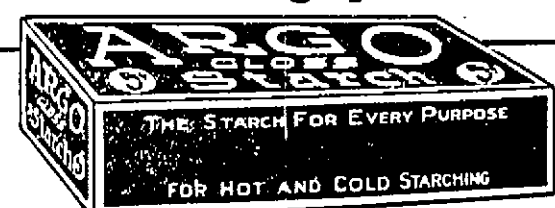

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, confidential, and always helpful.

LOVE AND CHARITY, FOUNDATION VIRTUES

FATHER REILLY GAVE INSPIRING
SERMON AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH YESTERDAY.

OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Text Taken From One of Paul's
Epistles Which Gives the Central Theme of His Entire Preaching.

Love and charity as the divine virtues that must be practiced by every one who is a true Christian, were the central theme of an inspiring sermon given by Father Reilly at the 10:30 mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday morning. These two virtues were characterized as the very foundation of every Christian life and of the happiness that we expect in the hereafter.

Taking for his text a portion of the epistle of St. Paul to the Ephesians, Chapter II, verses 13-21, in which the apostle states that "I desire that ye be rooted and founded in charity, may be able to comprehend, with all the saints, what is the breadth, and length, and height, and depth; and to know also the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled to the whole fullness of God," Father Reilly said in part:

"These words are the very keynote of all the epistles of that great apostle, St. Paul. They show clearly to us what were considered by him as the true foundations of Christianity. His words are but another way of reminding us that even though we live upon this earth, even though we are in the flesh, and this can be done if we but strive to live in accordance with the principles laid down by St. Paul, if we love our neighbors as ourselves and practice the virtue of charity we can attain that peace of heaven which can be enjoyed only by the true Christian.

"An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth," was the motto under the old law, but it has no place in the life of a Christian. The new law is, 'Love thine enemy.' Do good to those that persecute you. 'Love ye one another as I have loved you.' Follow him through his agony in the garden, watch him as he bears the insults, the shame, and the tortures inflicted upon him by the multitudes; walk beside him on that sorrowful, painful journey up the incline of Calvary and stand at his feet as his last breath goes forth in a prayer to his heavenly Father for those who persecuted and tortured him and you will never again question Christ's love for us.

"We are to be Christians, true followers of Christ, we must show that we have in our hearts some of that love and charity which he manifested throughout his life and especially when he expired for us on the cross. As St. Paul tells his hearers at another time the conditions followed here must be laid aside and we must put on the armor of Christ. We must listen to the admonition to 'let all unger in evil speaking be put aside. Do ye kind.' This is the spirit which must animate everyone who has any right to claim that he is a Christian. It is hard to understand how any one can claim to be a follower of Christ, while he harbors in his heart malice, evil thoughts of his neighbors, and continues to speak ill of him.

"It is easy enough to follow the Christian teachings in this respect when the neighbors are congenial; when we are not required to make some sacrifice. But, it is sacrifice alone which will make us Christians. We are inclined too much to follow Christ where the ways are smooth and pleasant; to remain with him while he feeds upon the banquet and to desert him when the way becomes rough and the wine is changed to gall.

"Love one another is the one principle which will bring peace to the home, the state and the world. This love will be made manifest in our exercise of charity toward our neighbors. Love and charity of this nature was shown in the conduct of our Savior when the multitude brought before him a sinful woman who, according to the old law, should be stoned to death. Christ turned to the crowd and said, 'He that is without sin among you let him cast the first stone.' Upon hearing this the crowd turned and went away and Jesus turned to the woman and said: 'Did no one condemn you?' Then neither shall I. Go and sin no more.' Do we do likewise toward our neighbor?

"It so often happens that we may exercise one kind of charity toward a neighbor while at the same time we may be doing him the greatest harm. Many think that to share the 'last crust with a fellow man is the test of true charity, but it is not. Charity is speech is what we need more than any other kind. We need to remove from our hearts those feelings of hatred for our neighbors and to abstain from speaking ill of them for so long as we refuse to forgive our neighbors we need not look for forgiveness from God for our own sins. And as soon as we learn to love our neighbor and treat him with the charity that we wish to have exercised toward ourselves we shall then realize that 'He that abides in love and charity abides in God.'

We know so much that doesn't count! We load up with a vast amount of useless junk—of Latin, Greek, and tongues the dead once used to speak. We learn to draw a little bit, and then old Enid's stuff we hit. We learn a string of useless dates—which learning nearly busts our patens. And when from school we take our way, in this broad world to put up hay, we can't apply the things we've learned and all our little works are spurned. The hopeful kids we send to school will study by an ironclad rule; one may be built to twing a lyre, and one to stoik an engine's fire; one has Caruso's gift to sing, and one has Mozart's gift to play, and one has the mind, they all must try the same old grind, and over their dog-eared volumes sweat to learn fool things they should forget.

NOTES FOR CITY FARMERS ONLY.

By H. L. RANN.

Nature has done a great many wise and beneficent things, but she slipped one over on posterity when she left a handle off the Mammoth pumpkin.

You can turn a thing through a handle, or a handle through a thing, and you can turn a pig around the lot by his tail, but nature left no opening in the pumpkin's guard. The Hubbard squash, has a neck like an old maid, and one is about as juicy as the other, while the sugar beet is as easy to handle as an adult wart on a Greenan nose. The only thing that will move the Mammoth pumpkin, however, is a dynamite fuse or a crow bar.

While on this subject, we remember seeking a neighbor with hands like a dinner tray to lift a prize pumpkin into a lumber wagon one pleasant day. The neighbor fell apart so fast that he sounded like running a log chain through the corn sheller. The second time he tried it he short-circuited every button on his overalls and had to retire modestly behind the barn and make a hasty toilet with ten-penny nails. Unless a man is so how-legged that a yearling steer can gallop through his underpinning, he might as well try to get a toe hold on a stand-pipe. It would be a grand thing if some of our naturalists would cross the pumpkin with the old-fashioned carpet bag. This would prevent many a casualty. A farm hand whose feet spread all over a 60-foot roadway fell over one of these Mammoth pumpkins the other night, while returning home from a dance, and rolled a new collar shirt and a hand-painted necktie, and when he stood up his breath was slower coming back than a stand-pipe compression. If you must rub pumpkins, grow the kind with horns on it like a Texas steer.

IN PRACTICE GAME

High School Eleven Succeeded in Defeating Their Opponents in Saturday's Game.

Administering a decisive defeat to the all-star aggregation which opposed the local high school eleven, the first game of the season for the football team at the Janesville high school this season are now exceeding bright. The score at the end of the game stood 17 to 0 with the napping side and alumni players on the losing side.

At no time during the game did the opponents of the regular team have any possible show of even scoring, while the regulars played with a vim and determination which meant victory.

Coach McMurry is well satisfied with the result of the game and considers the prospects good, although the trained players of the neighborhood schools will be a somewhat different proposition. The regular players who started in Saturday's contest were: Acting Captain Edger, Connell, McInley, Fuller and Kelly and Joe Ryan, who recently entered the local school from La Crosse and will play full-back position and do the kicking for the local team. Green, Gumbus, McInley and Hemming did noble work for the all-star delegation.

EMERALD GROVE, Sept. 22.—Remember the oyster supper, free to Mystic Workers and their families, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 26, at the church parlors.

About the usual number from here attended the Elkhorn fair during the week.

J. T. Barless and family are enjoying a fine new auto.

Mrs. Will Lloyd spent a few days with her sister, Miss Sue Decker, last week.

Appendix a Waste Basket.

One of New York's biggest scientific surgical choppers has often found toothbrush bristles in a patient's appendix. Two hours after midnight yesterday he operated on a man at most at the point of death, taking out the appendix, which was as big as a deerfoot sausage. In it was a pin all crusted over. For some people the appendix seems to be a waste basket palpitant.

Still Possible.

In spite of the many associations, societies, guilds, bands, organizations and clubs that exist in this country, it remains possible occasionally to find a man who has never had to learn parliamentary rules in order to act as a chairman.

Error Always a Harm.

To free a man from error is to give, not to take away. Knowledge that a thing is false is a truth. Error always does harm; sooner or later it will bring mischief to the man who harbors it.—Schopenhauer.

Number of Prizes.

Janesville fowls were again successful in taking a large share of the prize money at the Elkhorn fair when the Rhode Island Reds owned by Henry Pratt secured a number of ribbons in strong competition. The prizes taken were as follows: First and second in pullet, second cockerel, and second hen.

IMMENSE PROFITS MADE BY TOBACCO COMBINE

Commissioner Smith Tells How American Company Reaps Millions Yearly on Water in Stock.

Washington, Sept. 25.—A report on the capitalization, investment and earnings in the tobacco industry today was made public by Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations.

In his letter of transmittal Mr. Smith says the report "shows the vast earning power that arises from substantial control of a large industry. The great tobacco combination, which centers round the American Tobacco company, started in 1890 with $25,000,000 capitalization, operating only in cigarettes. By 1908 it controlled about four-fifths of the whole domestic tobacco industry, except cigars, and its net capitalization exceeded $316,000,000. This concentration is the basis of the combination's great earning power. High rates of earnings have gone with monopolistic control of the industry, and the less the degree of control the less the rate. In 1890 the combination's earnings were over 18 per cent on the actual investment. They rose in 1891 to more than 21 per cent. It was then operating principally, and with a practical monopoly, in cigarettes. In 1895 came expansion into other branches, a keen competitive struggle, and a sharp drop in earnings. But by 1900 the combination's broad domination of the whole industry took effective shape. Its earnings from that date cover the great bulk of the industry. In 1901 they were 13 per cent, in 1903 over 16 per cent, and from 1904 to 1908 the average was 19 per cent, or $31,300,000 yearly. This was the earning power of substantial monopoly, the result of the concentration above stated.

"The combination's rate of earnings has far exceeded that of its competitors. Its rate in 1908, a representative year, was about two and one-half times the average rate for 48 of the most important independent manufacturers of smoking and chewing tobacco and snuff. The earnings of these independent manufacturers, fairly represent the average rate in the tobacco business before the formation of the combination—roughly speaking, the 'competitive rate.' In other words, the combination has more than doubled the average level of earnings on its share of the business."

Mr. Smith says that through adroit and frequent adjustments of the securities of the combination, a very large part of its great earnings have gone to a small group of insiders.

"RICH QUICK" MAN PROTESTS

Jared Flagg and Associates Are Unable to Get Bail.

New York, Sept. 25.—Failing to obtain permission to give cash bail for their appearance in a federal court next Wednesday to answer to charges on using the United States mails to defraud, Jared Flagg, head of a stock investment concern; David Nash Morgan, formerly treasurer of the United States; P. Tennyson Neely and five others alleged to be connected with the Flagg concern, remain in the Tombs prison.

Flagg, who with his alleged associates was arrested by postal inspectors in a sensational raid upon his big suite of offices in West Fortieth street, declared he had $500,000 in cash where he could use it at once to free himself and his companions in prison, but United States Marshal Henkel declined to go on a search for the cash.

Flagg denies that he promised his clients profits of 52 per cent, a year upon the stock investments he made for them.

Postal inspectors estimate that he has received from his clients $1,500,000, and that in all he had 1,600 of them. He admits that he has accumulated a fortune of his own in the meantime.

CASCARETS CLEANSE
LIVER AND BOWELS

No Drowsiness, Headache, Sick, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Coated Tongue or Constipation.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Movable Headaches come from torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a well barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, flat gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give you a thorough cleansing inside and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your drug list will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regular. Don't forget the children—fated, and never-ending miserable mother's little babies need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

The Even Heat Makes All Rooms Comfortable

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater is so perfect in construction that fire and heat keeps all night, even with cheapest soft coal. When the draft is opened in the morning the fuel put in the night before will burn for two or three hours.

No other stove will give these results—fire never goes out and the rooms are kept at even temperature day and night.

COLE'S HOT BLAST—for Hard Coal—SAVES HALF

The perfect control of the drafts, the slow economical combustion and the large, sensitive, radiating surface makes it the most economical and best Hard Coal stove made.

Cole's Hot Blast is the modern heater and will save its cost in fuel every winter. Burns Soft Coal, Slack, Lignite, Hard Coal, Wood and lighter fuel.

Select the size you want now while stock is complete.

Price $12.00 and upward according to style and size.

The Cost of Purity exceeds all other Costs in Schlitz Brewing

We spend more on purity—more time, more skill and more money than on any other cost in our brewing.

We sterilize every tub, vat, tank—we scald every barrel—every pipe and pump—every time we use it.

We wash every bottle four times by machinery.

The air in which the beer is cooled is filtered.

Every bottle of Schlitz is sterilized, after it is sealed, by a process invented by Pasteur.

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives protection against light.

The brown bottle protects Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

If you knew what we know about beer, you would say, "Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles."

See that crown or cork is branded "Schlitz."

The Beer That Made Milwaukee Famous

Woman's Danger Line.

Whenever a woman starts to smoke, whenever she begins to drink, even in moderation, she puts her feet in a dangerous path. To preserve purity of life and thought, to save womanhood, every bit of protection, every safeguard is needed. It will be a sad day when dignity, modesty, purity of thought and language are no longer expected of woman. Laxity of expression and conduct are all too closely associated with loose morals.—Baltimore Sun.

At Last.

Mr. Styles—"Here's an item which says the ears should be placed as not to be higher than the eyebrows or lower than the tip of the nose." Mrs. Styles—"Well, dear, are my ears on straight?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Value of Reputation.

Reputation is in itself only a farthing candle, of uncertain flame, and easily blown out, but it is the light by which the world looks for and finds merit.—Lowell.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Gazette, Monday, September 25, 1871.

On the 23rd day of September, 1821, in the town of Shilburne, Mass., Mr. Joseph Randale and Miss Margaret Anderson were united in marriage. Fifty years ago. Half a century has this venerable couple passed in their marriage relation together. In those days such an incident seems like an ancient legend, so quaint, so queer, so different from what our successors may be permitted to witness fifty years hence. This couple have traveled the humbler walks of life, have been content to live within their means, putting their trust in God on whom they have looked for guidance all these years. Mr. Randale is 76 years old and Mrs. Randale 83 years of age. Their daughter, Mrs. Anderson, the Young Women's Seminary of this son, was, until her death, principal of city.

Our exchanges are full of false notions of false, prominent lists and all claiming "perfect success."

State News.

A passenger train lately ran from Milwaukee to Chicago in two hours, stopping out of that time 30 minutes. The rate of speed was nearly a mile a minute.

The people of Belmont voted, Wednesday, by 15 majority, to aid the Dubuque & Monroe railroad extension to the amount of $25,000.

Milwaukee has 12,273 boys and 12,974 girls, 8,879 attend public schools, and 6,829 attend private schools. 10,492 do not attend school.

FIRST PICTURE OF CHANNEL SWIMMER.

Champion Burgess who recently swam the English channel. This photograph was taken just before Burgess entered the water to begin his swim from England to France. The powerful long, smooth muscles of the swimmer are characteristic of the physique of the natural swimmer. He and the late Captain Webb are the only men who have ever accomplished this wonderful task which calls for skill, courage and endurance.

The Widow's Mite. It is remarkable that the very people who have but little are the very people who are always giving much of the little that they have to people who have less—the story of the widow and her mite is as true today as ever.

TALKS WATERWAYS AS OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE NOW

Representative Small Has His Ideas on This Important Subject.

affording ample compensation.
(Special to the Gazette.)
Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—Representative John H. Small, of the first North Carolina district, a member of the Rivers and Harbors Committee, is one of the most ardent workers for the further improvement of our waterways, canals and harbors. In speaking of waterway development today Mr. Small said:

"We shall not have an ideal national policy in the improvement of waterways until the American people shall be appropriately educated upon this subject and a wise public opinion shall enforce its demands upon this congress. Much has been done in this line of education. For about a decade a propaganda has been waged, the effect of which is easily discernible. The National Rivers and Harbors Congress has made a large contribution in the way of incalculating a wise policy. Various associations throughout the country have been organized to promote specific projects and at the same time they have directed the attention of the public to the necessity and wisdom of improved waterways. The people are gradually learning that the problem is not sectional but national and that the people of the interior even when distant from waterways, receive an indirect advantage."

"But the mere improvement of natural waterways and the construction of artificial waterways are not alone sufficient. They must be utilized. One of the necessary incidents in the effective and economic use of waterways is the construction of proper terminals. No one would think of undertaking the building up or taking care of the traffic upon his railroad without providing adequate terminals. Each station must have its side-tracks and at every point where large traffic exists there must be a large area with its network of tracks and with other facilities of a modern railway terminal. With waterways terminals are equally important. Wherever there is a feeder for the water carrier a proper terminal must be constructed, and the greater the traffic the more complete and capacious must be the water terminal. The main purpose of freight must be the transfer of freight between the water carrier and the warehouse, or between the water carrier and the railroad with the utmost dispatch and the greatest economy. A waterway is essentially incomplete without these water terminals."

"Who shall provide these water terminals along the waterway? Waterways differ from railroads in that they belong to the public. They are absolutely free to whoever may wish to use them subject only to such conditions as shall not unnecessarily impair their navigable character. Under our system of government and other conditions, it is not probable that the United States will undertake to construct such water terminals. This duty must devolve upon the states or preferably upon municipalities acting upon authority of the states. Such terminals should be open to the use of all water carriers, and the conditions of use should be liberal and at such cost only as will suffice to pay the interest upon the cost of construction and the cost of maintenance. The time will come, and for one I believe in hastening the day, when appropriations by congress for the improvement of waterways shall be conditioned upon a satisfactory guarantee that proper terminals will be provided by the municipalities and other public agencies along the line of waterway."

"I have not stated all the adjuncts which belong to terminals. It is not alone necessary to have the modern terminals for the rapid and economic transfer of freight between the wharves and the water carriers. It must be again recalled that transportation is only complementary to transportation by rail and by highway. There should be a physical connection between the nearest line of railway and the water terminal or warehouse. Their tracks should be laid to connect with this terminal and every facility should be afforded for the transfer of freight between the warehouse and railroads or directly between the water carrier and the railroad, and the transfer should also be made by the more efficient method. If the railroads in recognition of their public duty and the interests of the public should not voluntarily extend their tracks to the water terminal then they should be compelled to do so by adequate legislation. It is well to state just here that this cooperation between the railroads and the water carriers will not only serve the best interest of the public but will also promote and augment the revenues of the railroads."

DEATH IN FLYER'S WRECK

Pennsylvania's Fast Train Collides
Head-On With Freight.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 25.—One man was killed and four injured when the eighteen-hour Chicago-New York flyer on the Pennsylvania railroad crashed head-on into a freight train at Larimer, 25 miles east of Pittsburgh. The accident was caused by the misunderstanding of signals. F. Campbell, a fireman of Derry, Pa., was killed. None of the passengers on the flyer was injured, but most of them received a severe shaking up.

CONSERVATION IS TOPIC DISCUSSED BY THE GATHERING

President is Present to Take Part in the Arguments Pro and Con on This Important Subject.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 25.—The presence of President Taft, Secretary of the Interior, Fisher, and Secretary James H. Garfield and Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, together with half a dozen governors, several United States senators and many of the foremost educators, agricultural experts and business men of the nation, at the National Conservation Congress which opened in this city today, lends added dignity to a convention the importance of which to the country at large can scarcely be overestimated.

This is the third conservation congress to be held. The first was held in Seattle in 1909 and was devoted chiefly to the consideration of the saving of the forests. In St. Paul last year the public land question was foremost. At the congress the farmer and farm life forms the general topic, with especial reference to the question of soil fertility, its maintenance and improvement.

During the three days of the convention addresses and papers will be presented that will command the attention of the nation, not only because of their importance to the agricultural interests, but because of the prominence of the men who will present them. Beginning with the opening discourse tonight by President Taft on the general subject of "Conservation," the thousands of interested auditors who will fill Convention hall tomorrow and Wednesday will listen to addresses by noted men who know how the natural resources of the country have been wasted and who are best qualified to speak on the subject of their conservation.

Secretary Fisher and former Secretary Garfield will speak on the same general subject assigned to President Taft. Senator Joseph L. Bristow of Kansas, who was formerly assistant postmaster general, will tell of "The Farm and Postal Service," and Senator Gilbert N. Hitchcock of Nebraska, will speak on "Conservation in Congress."

Charles S. Barrett of Georgia, president of the Farmers' Education and Co-operative Union of America, will be heard on the subject of "Cutting Out the Middle Man." Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the famous pure food expert, will talk on "The Health of the People." Other speakers on subjects of general interest and importance will include Governors Hadley of Missouri, Sibley of Kansas, Gleason of South Carolina, Vesey of South Dakota and Kitchin of North Carolina.

An imposing array of agricultural experts will deal with the practical side of farming and farm life. Former Governor W. D. Hoard of Wisconsin, who is America's foremost authority on dairying, will talk on "Dairying and Soil Fertility." Other noted agricultural experts and their subjects are as follows: "The Live Stock Farm and Soil Fertility," Dr. Frederick H. Mumford, of the University of Missouri; "Wornout Soil," Prof. L. G. Hopkins of the University of Illinois; "Methods of Cultivation," Prof. E. M. Ton Eyck of Kansas State Agricultural College; "The Trend of the Conservation Movement," Dr. W. J. Scales, of the bureau of soils of the Department of Agriculture.

In addition to the problem of soil fertility the congress will discuss good roads, the country school, the country club, the farmer and the railroads, the farmer and water transportation, the community club, the rural home, co-operation among farmers, the live stock industry, child life on the farm and the Government. Twenty-five states are represented by delegates at the congress. Some of them are represented by their governors and the others by delegates appointed by them. Numerous organizations also have sent delegates, among them the American Live Stock Association, the Grain Dealers' National Association, the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the Pacific Northwest Association of Engineers, the Nebraska State Association of Commercial Clubs, the Cleveland National Live Stock Association, and the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Water Way Association. The Dominion Government has given evidence of its interest in the congress by sending W. V. Atkinson, forester to the Canadian commission of conservation.

MADAME SHERRY.
A significant feature of the overwhelming success in New York of the musical production "Madame Sherry," is the lavish praise the production elicited from the town's theatrical reviewers, experts form which follow.

Herald, "Welcomed with laughter and applause. It rivals 'The Merry Widow,' and is one of the best musical shows seen in New York in Oh! over so long!" World, "Easily the Widow Wails." Town Topics, "Coming from Paris 'Madame Sherry' arrived at the New Amsterdam Theatre on Tuesday evening in a blaze of glory. Not since the 'Widow of Lehar' have we been entertained by any such person as the dainty, bewitching convention girl, Yvonne Sherry, and the recognition that was given her foretold a long sojourn in our midst." THE HEART BREAKERS.

Manager Mort H. Slinger who will present to Heart Breakers, the latest musical comedy hit, will introduce a novel idea of advertising this season ahead of the attraction. Mr. George Danmore, the well known comedian plays the leading part in 'The Heart Breakers' as 'The Master,' who forms a club of his boon companions to seek revenge on all women kind. When the advance man arrives in town ten days ahead of the show he brings with him a box of lapel buttons that are distributed around the city. Each of these buttons reads, "I am a member of the Heart Breakers' Club" and on the back of each button is printed a number. There are four sets of duplicate numbers and the lucky one who gets a number corresponding to the one who holds the duplicate will be entitled to two of the best seats in the theatre. One can readily see the fun that can be got out of this if two people, a man and a woman should hold them and they had never seen each other before. In fact, before the season is over Manager Slinger may go on record as having taken Cupid's place as the little God of Love. The Heart Breakers will be seen at Myers Theatre, Friday, Sept. 29.
